Stay and Play Sessions

We really hope the parents who were able to come to the Stay and Play sessions this week found them informative and useful. We will be doing another session for each class next half term. If the focus for your child's class was maths this time, it will be English next time. If the focus was English it will be maths next time.

Frome Window Wanderland

Trinity First School will be taking part in Frome Window Wanderland for the first time this year and two of our classes are working with artist, Emma Finch, to design and make a window display. The finished results will be displayed in windows at the school from Friday 1 March until Sunday 3 March.

If you are interested in taking part at home and making your own window display then you can sign up for free at www.windowwanderland.com/event/frome-2019

or find more information on facebook.

Frome Window Wanderland are also working in partnership with the Frome Children's Festival to offer two free drop-in workshops during the half term holidays. There will be lots of ideas and materials to create your own mini masterpiece to put in your window and light up and share as part of the Window Wanderland event.

The workshops take place at Trinity Church Hall on Thursday 21 February and at Frome Football Club on Friday 22 February, 10am-1pm followed by an optional lunch. These events are also suitable for children with additional needs. £1 per child, limited places so come early to avoid disappointment. For more information please contact Tasmin Head or Lisa Glass

Thank you to the parents who have signed the card of condolence for Miss Dewings, I am sure she will be very touched to know you are thinking of her. If you haven't yet signed it but would like to, please come to the school office early next week to do so.

Thank you.
