School Values

Throughout the year we have had a real focus on our five school values - kindness, resilience, respect, curiosity and teamwork. We have chosen those values because we believe they are appropriate for children of First school age, both in terms of understanding what they mean and in terms of being able to develop those qualities. Moreover, we think that if our children can consistently show those values, they will be well-prepared for the future. The children have got really good at naming and explaining the values and I am sure they would be able to give you lots of examples of how we show them in our everyday life in school. You may have noticed that your child sometimes gets dojos for demonstrating one of the values, and they are also often the reason behind the stars of the week.

Music Listening

James Brown - I Feel Good - YouTube

This is a reworking of "I Found You," a song recorded and released by Yvonne Fair and produced by James Brown in 1962. Fair was one of Brown's backup singers on the road.

This is the song that became Brown's signature tune and gave him his famous catch phrase, "I Feel Good."

The original 1964 version of this song had no guitar. When Brown redid it 1965, he made his screams more pronounced and added some instrumentation, including more sax. Some of the players on the recording were Maceo Parker on sax, his brother Melvin Parker on drums, Nat Jones on organ and Bernard Odum on bass.

This is a great example of a funk song with lyrics supporting the groove. It's not poetry, but Brown's series of single-syllable words are accented to hit the beats and support the song's rhythm.

Some of the movies that used this song include Good Morning, Vietnam, The Nutty Professor, White Men Can't Jump, Undercover Brother and Transformers. TV shows that used it include The Simpsons, Miami Vice and The Cosby Show.

~ Happy Listening ~

Weekly Art

Keith Haring, Boys Club, NYC, August 17, 1987 © Keith Haring Foundation

Keith Haring was born in 1958, in Pennsylvania, USA. He loved drawing cartoons and visiting museums. Here he is travelling on the subway.

Keith Haring is known for colourful, cartoon artworks and certain characters such as crawling babies, barking dogs and spaceships. When he was 20 years old he moved to New York City. In the 1980s, New York was very exciting place and there were many artists working in the same neighbourhood as Haring, such as Andy Warhol and Jean Michel Basquiat.

Keith Haring was inspired by graffiti artists. He drew hundreds of drawings on New York's subway. He used chalk to make his art.

People walked past his art every day. Imagine walking past artworks on your way to school every day!

He got in trouble sometimes for drawing on the subway, but many people loved his art. He carried on drawing because he wanted everyone to experience art.

Keith Haring started becoming famous and had exhibitions in galleries. When the paintings were sold, he often gave the money to children's charities.

Haring, painted art with and for kids. He made murals in lots of children's hospitals and schools. He even painted a massive artwork of the Statue of Liberty with over 1000 kids!

He often listened to hip-hop music. Break-dancers used his pavement drawings as a surface for their performances.

Questions to help support discussion

- Why do you think the artist painted this picture?
- What can you see in the picture?
- What colours can you see? Why do you think the artists use them?
