HEADS UPDATE

from Amanda Seager

First of all this week, a huge thank you to the FOTFS committee and all the volunteers who made the Colour Run so successful last Saturday. It is such a lovely event, and I always feel there is a real sense of our wider community as we have former pupils returning as well as family members taking part. I think the course gets better and better each year, and it is always fun to see which participants are covered in colour by the end of lap one, and who has managed to avoid it all. Wherever you are on that particular scale, I hope you enjoyed taking part.

In school this week, our children in years 1 and 2 spent the day on Wednesday creating some beautiful artwork that will feature in the 'Discover the Future' display in the Showers Pavilion at the Bath and West Show next week. The teachers used the book, The Bluest of Blues by Fiona Robinson as their inspiration. This beautiful book is about the life and work of Anna Atkins, the first person to publish a book of photographs, in 1843. Anna was a dedicated botanist and photographer who also used cyanotypes to document her extensive collection of different seaweed types. The image created in a cyanotype is white, against a pure blue background and so the children's work for the display is all created using blue and white. The children were able to experiment with lots of different styles of artwork, including printing, clay tiles and their own versions of cyanotypes. They had an amazing day and their work looks stunning. Special thanks go to Miss Morris who organised the day, and who will be giving up her time during the half term holiday to put the work up on display and to take it down again. If you are going to the Show, do make the time to find their work on display!

Free School Meal Families

Asda Vouchers

Our apologies to those families eligible for free school meals. The Asda vouchers have not yet arrived but they will be distributed after the half-term break. Thank you for your patience and understanding.

Sponsored Rollerblade

Two of our pupils, who are also siblings, Alessia and Josiah Champness, are taking on a sponsored 5km rollerblading challenge around Victoria Park during the half-term break. Their goal is to raise enough funds to adopt two endangered animals: the mountain gorilla and the sea turtle.

If you'd like to support their efforts, please click here to sponsor them.

To learn more about these endangered species and how adoption helps, visit the World Wide Fund for Nature:
